

University Orthopedics and The Center for Orthopaedics Announce Partnership.

University Orthopedics (UOI) and The Center for Orthopaedics (CFO) have entered into a new partnership, effective January 1, 2019. Drs. A. Robert Buonanno, Michel Arcand, Michael Belanger, John Czerwein, David Moss and Vincent Yakavonis will bring their expertise to the team at University Orthopedics. These providers will continue to perform surgery at Our Lady of Fatima Hospital in North Providence, RI, a CharterCARE Health Partners Affiliate. The Center for Orthopaedics will continue to serve the same communities with patient care and physical therapy at their office located within the Atwood Medical Center at 1524 Atwood Avenue, Suite 140 in Johnston, RI, and will accept the same insurance carriers.

An experienced team committed to providing patients throughout the region with quality orthopedic care.

“Our physicians and staff are dedicated to preserving the health and well-being of the communities we serve. This partnership will further enhance our services by offering our patients access to additional subspecialty experts in foot and ankle, pediatrics, trauma and orthopedic oncology.”

- Dr. A. Robert Buonanno, Founder and Principal of The Center for Orthopaedics

“We are excited that the skilled surgeons from The Center for Orthopaedics will become part of our expanding practice. At University Orthopedics, it is our mission to provide the highest quality orthopedic care integrated with world class education and research, and the addition of these fine physicians advances our mission even further.”

- Edward Akelman, M.D., President of University Orthopedics

Appointments can be made with the Center for Orthopaedics office at 401-351-6200.
